

«Replay

Save 20% on Photo Books

Capture 2009 memories in a Shutterfly photo book.

Create now

Other editions: Mobile | News Feeds | E-Newsletters | Blogs | Twitter

Find it: Jobs | Cars | Real Estate | Apartments | Deals | Classifieds

SEARCH ALL go

All Local News Archives Calendar More »

SPONSORED BY:

HOME NEWS OPINION LIFE&LEISURE SPORTS BLOGS HOMETOWNS MULTIMEDIA OBITUARIES BUY/SELL CUSTOMER SERVICE

Blogs Elections Forums Editorials Letters Submissions Community Views Perspective Columnists Matt Davies Cartoons

 Comment, Blog & Share Photos
Log in | Become a member | Search people

POWERED BY YOU AND The Journal News

Taxes mean higher health-care costs

JANUARY 29, 2010

Comments \(5\) Recommend Print this page E-mail this article Share

Text Size: Normal | Large | Larger

Gov. David Paterson has released an executive budget piled high with health-care taxes, including a doubling of taxes on inpatient and home care. There are also proposed tax hikes for nursing homes, as well as an expanded surcharge on physicians' services.

These proposed increases in 2010-11 health-care assessments would be added on top of the 2008-09 health-care assessments just enacted less than a year ago and would hit New Yorkers at a crucial time, when national health-care reform carries the promise of new health-care and insurance taxes nationally.

Medical providers would have no choice but to build the taxes into the cost of their services and pass them on. Inevitably, increases in medical costs will result in increased insurance rates, meaning fewer individuals in our state can afford the premiums.

As a member of the New York State Association of Health Underwriters, I am on the front lines of this health-care crisis. I bear witness every day to how increases in health insurance rates affect people and families. I recognize that our state is in a financial quandary, but increasing taxes on the health-care sector will just exacerbate the problem, further creating more uninsured New Yorkers.

If further taxes like these are added to the health-care sector in 2010, New Yorkers will be looking at a perfect storm of rate increases, causing employers to drop insurance coverage for their employees or to lay off workers.

No one would win.

Brian Bodner

New City

The writer is a board member of the National Association of Health Underwriters, Downstate Chapter.

Related Stories

- Banks' success helps the nation

Contextual linking provided by Topix

LoHud.com Text Alerts

Get breaking local news as it happens from LoHud.com. Enter your phone number below:

Continue

- » Modify existing alerts
- » 4INFO | Get this tool

More Opinion Headlines

- A 'crackdown' that really isn't (3)
- Pick Harkham for the Assembly
- Keep the dogs off Playland Beach (3)
- 'Roll of Honor' marks our losses (4)
- Banks' success helps the nation (5)

Latest Headlines

- Photos: Chimney fire in Pearl River
- Photos of Haiti, from Westchester Habitat's trip there
- New White Plains mayor gets blank slate on documents
- 62 high school musicals are stepping up
- PHOTO GALLERY: The Grammy Awards

5 Comments >>
 Read and share your thoughts on this story.